Bernard and Audre Rapoport L’Taken Social Justice Seminars

The Religious Action Center of Reform Judaism (RAC) pursues social justice by organizing the North American Reform Jewish community and advocating for its values on a broad spectrum of issues. We mobilize around federal, state, provincial, and local legislation, support and develop leaders, and organize communities to create a world overflowing with justice, compassion, and peace.

Every year, nearly 2,000 high school students from across North America arrive in Washington, D.C. for a L’Taken Social Justice Seminar, an intense four-day study kallah on Jewish values, social justice, and public policy. The program empowers emerging young leaders to be effective advocates at all levels of government and strengthens Jewish communities by challenging participants to approach important contemporary issues through a Jewish lens.

During each seminar weekend, students have the opportunity to engage with policy experts and one another, meet with their elected officials on Capitol Hill, tour the U.S. Holocaust Memorial Museum, and celebrate a memorable Havdalah service at the Jefferson Memorial.
