

Muslim-Jewish Dialogue Resource Guide

Through dialogue, Jews and Muslims can learn to better see each other as bearers of traditions worthy of study and understanding, appreciating our similarities and respecting our differences. Engaging one another in thoughtful conversation and shared experiences promotes understanding and fights bigotry. The real work is done in our houses of worship and in our homes.

PARTNER...

...with a local mosque for a pulpit swap, taking your rabbi and congregation to pray in a mosque, and inviting an Imam and his congregation to participate in a Shabbat service.

HOST...

...adult education classes in partnership with a mosque. Consider exploring the topics of zedakah/zakat (charitable giving), avodah/salat (worship and prayer), or hosting a text study on difficult texts from our traditions.

ENCOURAGE...

...youth in your congregation to build their own relationships. Your temple youth group can partner with Muslim youth for a shared service project.

BREAK BREAD...

...with members of others faith groups at a Shabbat dinner or other religious festivals.

DOWNLOAD...

...Children of Abraham, the URJ and ISNA's guide to discover more ways to engage in dialogue and close the divide.

For more great programs and to see what other congregations are doing, visit:

rac.org/dialogue